

Telehealth Talking Points

- A telehealth visit is a virtual physical therapy session designed just for you, by your clinician, which allows you to have your physical therapy session from the comfort of your own home, one-on-one, with your clinician.
- Your clinician will provide a complete POC including access to a personalized HEP, offer flexible scheduling and will be there to guide you with every step.
- Most insurance providers are covering these services; however, for your convenience, we will verify your benefits prior to your visit. We too offer affordable direct payment options.
- The feedback received from patients has been reported with a high satisfaction based on convenience, flexibility as well as the quality of care received from their clinician.
